

From The Dellingers

Greetings dear ones,

I remember what Paul said the Lord told him: "My grace is sufficient..." There is praise in my heart for the application of this and when grace is defined it simply says "Grace is Jesus".

First, I want to tell you that Monday I met with Dr. Forero and he went over the cancer treatment and shared that the lungs, liver and bones had no indication of cancer growth and that the hormone treatment would continue -- every day till death...which could be many years. In Heaven there will be no cancer. His comment was that I looked good.

Second, as we discussed my health I shared with him the lameness in my right leg. He arranged for an MRI on July 8th. We will actually spend the majority of the day at the clinic.

Thirdly, I shared with you that I smashed my wrist. It has reached a wonderful stage of being nearly completely usable.

Then, two weeks ago I went to have my eyes checked. They discovered a scale (not cataract) in the corner of my eye. Treatment did not help so I must have an operation on my left eye.

I do have a few other minor problems but will not bore you with more.

We rejoice in our spirits before the Lord. We will be visiting a church of mixed race this Sunday and preaching at another the following Sunday. Thank you for all you do and please remember both Joy and me in prayer.

P. S. Pray for the "mood" for writing the biography -- "The Voice of God"

Three (3) Things NOT to Say When Someone is Suffering

by Edward T. Welch

If we are affected by someone's suffering, we will remember it, which is one of the great gifts that we give to each other.

A young man's father died, and his local church, as we would expect, loved him well—invitations to dinner, a high priority on everyone's prayer list, and warm e-mails, texts, and cards. After a week or two, the generous care began to taper off, also as we would expect. The few people who still asked the young man how he was doing stood out to him as unusually caring.

A year later, on the anniversary of the father's death, a friend from the church called and left a message: "I remember that your father died on this day last year. I just wanted you to know that I was thinking about you and prayed for you. I prayed that there will be times today when the memories you have of him bless you."

The young man was stunned. He was changed. He was comforted and encouraged, and he committed to keep others on his heart long term.

God's premiere self-description is "the compassionate and gracious God" (Ex. 34:6 NIV). This means that both our pain and our prayers affect him, and he has us on his heart. He takes our burden on himself and remembers us. As we imitate our Father, we want to feel the burdens of others too.

Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. (Gal. 6:2)

So we call, e-mail, track down the suffering at church. We have them on our heart, and we want them to know it.

Say something. Do something. Remember. That is the basic idea.

1) Do not say: "It could be worse." 2) Do not say: "What is God teaching you through this?" Or, "God will work this together for good."

Happy Birthday!

I comfort you. Why do you fear mortal men that allow you to be in constant fear because of the oppressor, and forget your maker who created the heavens and the earth? (Isaiah 51: 12-16 (NIRV)

I am the Lord, the first and the last. I will not give my glory to any other, nor praise to idols. (Isaiah 42:8&9)

3) Do not say: "If you need anything, please call me, anytime.

This comment might suggest that you don't know the person.

Those who are suffering usually don't know what they want or need. Instead you could ask, What can I do to help? Or just do what needs to be done.

"So when they had appointed him a day, many came to him at his lodging, to whom he explained and solemnly testified of the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus from both the Law of Moses and the Prophets, from morning till evening. And some were persuaded by the things which were spoken, and some disbelieved." (Acts 28:23-24) NKJV

Interesting... Paul used what part of the Bible? He used the Hebrew Scriptures. Paul used the Old Testament to show that Jesus was the Messiah; Yeshua HaMashiach in Hebrew. It's amazing to me how many churches, pastors, and Christians are willing to throw aside the Hebrew Scriptures calling them outdated or not relevant for today. We see Jesus all through the Old Testament! He's in Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, and all the way through the Psalms and into the prophets.

Friend, you cannot throw out the Hebrew Scriptures without saying that Jesus is no longer relevant. Some would try to say that there are other paths to God. It is true that all paths do lead to God, but there's only one path that leads to Heaven. Everyone will stand before God, but without Jesus, you will be eternally separated from Heaven and God at that meeting.

John 14:6 "Jesus said to him, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me." NKJV

Jesus did not say, "I am one of many ways." Friend, God has provided THE way for forgiveness and restoration to Him and that way is through His Son, Jesus Christ. Jesus died on a cross and was resurrected from the grave for our sins.

Jesus is the way to God's forgiveness. He's the only way.

Acts 4:12 "Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved." NKJV

Romans 10:9-10 "That if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." NKJV

Life Lesson: Jesus and the Bible teach us that Jesus is the only way to Heaven.

Think On This: Do you not know who made everything ? Haven't you heard about Him? The Lord is the God who lives forever. He created everything on earth. He won't become worn out or get tired. No one will ever know how great His understanding is. (Isaiah 40: 28 NlrV)
